TIGER! TIGER!

Grammar: Cause and effect / reason and result

Look at this:

I was hungry. This is the CAUSE or REASON
I bought some food. This is the EFFECT or RESULT

We can join the two sentences to show the Cause and Effect:

I was hungry so I bought some food.
I was so hungry that I bought some food.
I bought some food because I was hungry.

Exercise 1

Match the sentences to show the Cause and the Result. Then join the pairs of sentences using sentences like the ones in the box above.

CAUSE	RESULT
1. The man drove dangerously.	_____
2. It was raining heavily.	_____
3. She didn't water the plants.	_____
4. There was a thunderstorm at the airport.	_____
5. She ate a lot of sweet food.	_____
